MONDAY JULY 16.

The intolerable heat of the past week wil give p:ople some idea of the uncomfortableness of political heat at the white house. And just think, the president has more than a year of such a sweating.

More thorns for the mugwump press from Dan Manning, late secretary of the treasury: "The president's course has been consistent with democratic principles and partisan in every respect."

Gen. Franz Sigel, the hero of the man who "fought mit Sigel," is gathering material for a history of his campaigns, to be published in German. It seems that to the literature of the civil war there is to be no end.

Dr. McGlynn ran afoul of the Vatican and got the worst of it. Other men have thrown their heads at a stone wall in the same way and fared no better than Dr. McGlynn. Some men cannot learn a very simple lesson from experience.

Men who desire to have their last resting places marked by monuments, should heed the example of Dr. William M. Gibson, of Jamestown, Pennsylvania. Mindful of the fate of monumental funds, he built his own monument at a cost of $100,000 before he died. Experience proves that the slowest thing on earth is a monumental subscription.

J. Starley Brown, who is soon to wed Miss Mollie Garfield, is a young man, the son of a carpenter in Washington, D. C. He picked up stenography during his education in the public schools, and assisted General Garfield in his correspondence of evenings, and at Mentor after the latter's nomination, thus paying the way to become the President's private secretary. The affair is a love-match, and promises happiness for both the young people.

Some people claim that the president ought to go to St. Louis, and that Andy Jackson would go under similar circumstances. Well, well, there are no more Andy Jacksons and never will be. We are not cutting that kind of presidential timber.—Macon Telegraph, dem.

When applied to democratic timber, the Telegraph is right. Cleveland, the promised Andrew Jackson, is only a Jackson in distributing the spoils of office. In personal and moral courage he is no more like Jackson than Keely's motor is like chain lightning.

Then look at the difference between Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Blaine. Mr Cleveland said some things the G. A. R. didn't like, and was afraid to meet them at St. Louis. Mr. Blaine had been twisting the British lion's tail for years, and then went over to England to have a picnic with the Britishers. That is the kind of personal courage that does a public man good service.

In Bradstreet's is a summary of railway building during the first six months of 1887, and the total mileage of new main-line track laid amounted to 3,754 miles against only 1,755 miles in the same period in 1886. The figures which have been collected by the Railway Age show that the greatest activity in railroad building has been in Kansas, where nearly one fifth of the total mileage was built. Next in importance is Texas, followed by Indian Territory, Nebraska, and Dakota. Alabama leads in the states of the south, followed by Georgia and Florida. The middle, western, and southwestern states are most active in the construction of new lines. In New England and the eastern states generally very little has been done. The prospects of heavy building during the remainder of the year are said to be good. The Age reiterates its belief that the total completed mileage this year will not be less than 10,000 miles, with a possibility of even surpassing the year 1882, when 11,568 miles were built, the best record. The total estimated mileage of the United States is put at 141,300 miles, almost double that of 1874. In a calculation of the amount expended in laying track in the first six months of 1887, some interesting statistics are shown. At an average of 100 tons of rail to the mile the 3,754 miles have required about $15,000,000. Estimating the cost per ton, including stations, at $25,000, the total sum expended has not been far from $93,750,000.

SHERMAN'S POSITION.

Senator Sherman has done a very wise thing in making a public announcement of his position as a candidate for the presidency. The time came when many of the leading republicans of Ohio wanted Senator Sherman to be bold on the question of his candidacy or withdraw. And so it was decided that the senator should be asked to state his position unequivocally, that the leaders might know what to expect. In response to this sentiment, the senator wrote the following letter:

I do not want to be held up to the people of the United States as a presidential candidate if there is any doubt about Ohio. I do not, as many think, seek for that high honor, nor do I ask any one to aid me in securing the nomination. I am as passive about it as any man can be whose merits or demerits are discussed in that connection. I do not desire the nomination, nor shall I encourage any one to secure it for me until Ohio republicans, who have conferred upon me the honors I have enjoyed, shall with substantial unanimity express their wish for my nomination.

Senator Sherman desires that the Toledo convention shall endorse him, which will be taken as the sentiment of the republicans of Ohio, but judging from the canvass the Toledo Blade made last week, it will be difficult for the convention to bind the republicans of that state to an endorsement of the senator. The convention may ratify Sherman, but such action should not control the delegates to be elected a year hence. And it is doubtful if the convention next year will be at all influenced by what the Toledo convention may say or do.

It seems at this distance of time from the holding of the republican national convention that the candidacy of John Sherman will end in a failure. If Mr. Blaine allows his name to go before that convention as a candidate, it is almost certain that he will be nominated. It may be that the republicans can do better than to nominate Mr. Blaine, but somehow the people have got it into their heads that it must be Blaine, and twenty to one it will on Blaine. He has the popularity, the confidence of the people, and the power to make a magnificent canvass, and the signs in the political sky are that should he be nominated he will win in the election. He was beaten three years ago by no fault of his. The man who conducted the republican campaign in New York beat him. But if Mr. Blaine is the candidate, they will not have the chance to do so again. The Burchards and the Delmonicos will be out, and men of energy and sense who know how to manage a campaign will be in, and the battle will be with the republicans.

BRAGG AND THE G. A. R.

General Edward S. Bragg is out of temper, as well as out of office. He doesn't like himself for the enemies he has made, but seems to hate himself. Ever since he has kicked himself out of the confidence of the people of his own district, he has been fretful, ill-tempered and blundering. He has lately turned his arrows of hate at the Grand Army of the Republic, and in an interview he says that the members of the G. A. R., are mostly soldiers who saw little service, and who enlisted for bounties and not from patriotic motives. He further intimates that they are largely from the regiments that entered the service during the last year of the war. Then he attempts to show that those regiments saw little or no fighting, and strives to create the impression that they were composed of cowards, shirks, malingers, bounty-jumpers and "coffee coolers." He runs over the military record of some of the later Wisconsin regiments as follows. "Thirtieth and Thirty-fifth regiments, one man killed; Thirty-fourth, no loss; Thirty-ninth, Fortieth and Forty-first, one-hundred-day men; Forty-second, never in action; Forty-third, one skirmish, one man wounded; Forty-fourth, no loss; Forty fifth, no loss; Forty-sixth, no loss; and so on through with the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third, none of which were organized before the spring of 1865, and none of which saw battle or lost a man.

In answer to this baseless charge, the Milwaukee Sentinel responds: "Gen. Bragg having entered the army in 1861, thinks it safer to sneer at those who began their service in 1864. Most of the regiments that he mentions were organized and took the field in the summer of 1864. That the war was then not practically ended, nor obviously near its close, may perhaps be inferred from the fact that the National democratic convention, held the following autumn, declared that the war was a failure, and demanded its abandonment on the ground that the rebellion could not be put down by military force and that the only hope of restoring the Union lay in peaceable negotiation with the rebel government. In fact the circumstances at that time were such that it required greater courage and patriotism to enter the army then than in 1861."

The Sentinel then continues its answer to General Bragg as follows: "Three years of bloody conflict, and the sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of lives had taught the country something of the nature of war. The men who entered the service then had a full knowledge of what it meant, and had every reason to expect to see its worst phases. While some of them were so fortunate as to be little exposed to its fury, others were whirled to its bloodiest vortexes. Gen. Bragg shrewdly forbore to refer to such of the later regiments, as the 36th and 37th Wisconsin, though mentioning several organized before them. There is no reason to believe that these regiments were composed of better men than those that he sneeringly mentions, but they had chance to show their quality, and how did they behave? No men displayed sublimer courage in the bloody day at Cold Harbor than "the coffee coolers" of the 36th Wisconsin. Though they had just entered the service, the volunteers of 1864 showed the steady and dauntless valor of veterans, and left 144 of their number dead and wounded on the field. The losses of that regiment in a few months were two-thirds as great as the losses of General Bragg's regiment during four years, and yet he has the contemptible meanness to calumniate, for political ends, the courage and the patriotism of the soldiers who enlisted in 1864! The 37th Wisconsin is another of the latter regiments which had an opportunity to show its qualities. These "coffee coolers" of 1864 also proved that they were not inferior in soldiery qualities to the best of the veteran regiments. They were one of the regiments sent into the crater of the exploded mine at Petersburg, and were among the last to retire from the deadly rain of shot and shell poured upon them. Their loss on that occasion was seven officers and 148 men killed and wounded—equal to nearly one-half the whole loss of Gen. Bragg's regiment during the entire war. Yet Gen. Bragg sneers at the men who enlisted in 1864 as "coffee-coolers," destitute of patriotism, and intent only on big bounties! And President Cleveland's lickspittle organs talk about "these fellows," "who failed to distinguish themselves in the war," and are "the noisy shriekers of to-day." It is a bad cause and a bad party that requires its supporters to resort to such calumnies in its defense."

A WIDESPREAD HOT WAVE.

AN ALMOST UNPRECEDENTED REIGN OF HEAT.

Over One Hundred Deaths from Sunstroke in Chicago—At Joliet—The Country's Record.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 18.—The present hot spell is the worst the city has experienced for years. Saturday the mercury of numerous reliable thermometers recorded a temperature of 100 to 102 degrees and business had to be in part suspended on account of the dangerously high temperature. It was hotter yesterday than on Saturday, and all the probabilities point to a still more excessive heat to-day after a short breathing spell during the early morning hours. Refreshing as the little rain was which passed over our city under a sudden gust of west wind shortly after 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, it eased the temperature from 10 to 12 degrees only for a few hours. The death rate caused by the excessive heat was enormous. Over fifty cases have been reported at the Coroner's office up to an early hour, and inasmuch as later in the day no official was in attendance and further reports were held over, it is safe to say that, together with the fatalities of Friday and Saturday, more than one hundred deaths have been caused by sunstroke within the last three days. From indications carefully collected by the signal officers and others, it is to be feared that the worst is not yet over. Sunday night's little shower was in accordance with the official predictions. In connection with the usual nightly fall of temperature, it made the evening and the night endurable, and the effects of the moist westerly winds may extend over the early hours of to-day.

Shortly after noon hour Sunday the thermometer on prominent down town buildings passed the 100 mark in shady and comparatively little exposed places. This meant all the way from 120 to 125 degrees in the sun, and the latter figure are after all those which count with such people as have to face exercise on the streets in days like these. On the roadways and sidewalks it seemed as if a layer of quivering, heated air covered the ground; the stone sidewalks were burning hot, and in the alleys, which, despite the assertion of the health officials, are in a deplorable condition, the accumulated refuse fairly boiled in the sun. From about 11 o'clock in the forenoon the wind, which was in the southwest, veered straight west and increased in velocity until it reached twelve miles an hour. Ordinarily that is a comfortable breeze, but it brought no relief yesterday. At alley openings and street crossings, where a breath of wind struck the fatigued pedestrian, it felt like the vapor from a furnace. Men turned from the draught rather than to expose their perspiring faces to it.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon thermometers registered 104 degrees. One at Fuller & Fuller's wholesale drug house, showed 123 in the sun at about the same time. From that hour on the sky in the west became overcast, the wind being still west with a slight tendency to the north. There was no immediate change in the temperature, at least not a perceptible one. For fully two hours it was a hard struggle between the scorching sun and the heavy clouds—an interesting struggle, anxiously watched by thousands upon thousands of suffering people. At times the atmosphere was well nigh intolerable, and everybody seemed to be in that listless state of mind which is the forerunner of despair. Then at 5 o'clock the rain clouds had gained the mastery. There was feeble lightning in the west, and the faint rumbling of distant thunder. A few minutes more and the rain came in fitful streaks, while the wind increased to a smart breeze.

Hot Weather Elsewhere.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18.—There were ten fatal cases of sunstroke in this city Sunday—two women and eight men—all of whom were white. With the exception of of one woman all had been drinking. The maximum temperature was reached at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when the thermometer at the United States Signal Office registered 99.2 degrees.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 18.—The thermometer was from 100 to 105 in the shade Sunday. Charles Klipsteine and Stephen Hughes both died from sunstroke, and several others were overcome.

GALENA, Ill., July 18.—The mercury reached 106 in the shade at this point Sunday. Joseph Schiminski, a cooper by trade, was overcome by the heat and died last night

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 18.—The thermometer Sunday registered 97 4-10. Two deaths from sunstroke are reported.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 18.—Nellie Weber, aged 16 years, and Mrs. Deboer, aged 68, living in this city, died Saturday night from the effects of sunstrokes received in the afternoon. The second crop of celery here, worth many thousands of dollars, is greatly damaged by the long drought, and will be a total failure unless rain falls soon.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 18.—Sunday was the hottest day of the season. There was a dozen cases of sunstroke up to 6 o'clock, five of which are fatal. The thermometer registered 101 at 4 p. m.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The thermometer on Sunday registered 91 at noon. Then a vicious squall of wind and rain came out of the west and raged for about an hour. The wind reached a velocity of seventy-four miles an hour and did considerable damage to buildings. Another severe gale occurred at 10 o'clock in the evening, many crafts in the waters in the vicinity were upset, but it is not known that any lives were lost. The storm was very severe at Coney Island and Rockaway, damaging some of the hotel buildings. It caused panics on the boats, and many people were drenched with the rain. The highest mercury of the day was 92.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 18.—Sunday was the hottest day with one exception for thirty years, 102 degrees in the shade. There were about thirty cases of sunstroke, fourteen fatal.

Fatal Results in the Penitentiary.

JOLIET, Ill., July 18.—Fourteen convicts at the penitentiary were overcome by the heat Sunday morning and had to be taken down from the galleries to the idle house, where it was cooler. Sixteen went to the hospital and two died. The first one who was sunstruck was working in the boot shop Friday morning. He was an Italian named Francisco Trevaro. The second one was John Oleson, who was sunstruck while digging the grave of Trevaro. He died this morning. The atmosphere on the top galleries in the cell houses is intensely hot, almost like a bake oven. They are covered with brick, and the heat cannot get out when it ascends, on account of the heavy brick-work. The thermometer registered 100 at daybreak Sunday, and 118 in the middle of the day. The heat is simply terrible, and it is thought that if a cold wave doesn't strike us pretty soon there will be a heavy death rate among the convicts. The authorities have lessened the tasks of the prisoners.

Twelve cases of sunstroke were reported in Cincinnati Friday.

THE ROWING MEET.

Second Day of the Mississippi Valley Regatta.

PULLMAN, Ill., July 18.—In the second day's events of the Mississippi Valley Amateur Rowing association the first race for senior four-oared shells was won by the Hillsdale crew in 9:46; Moline, 9:52; Pullman, 10:58; Westerns, 11:18. Owing to a foul Umpire Martin was obliged to disqualify the Molines and give second place to Pullman. The second race, for senior double sculls, was won by the Delaware crew in 11:37, the Modocs finishing in 11:40. The senior pair-oared shell race was won by the Modocs in 12:20, the Excelsiors crossing in 12:30. In the single shell contest Corbet won in 11:28; Edel, 11:57; Metzger, 12:03; Gastrich, 12:06. The six-oared barge race between crews from the Western and Pullman clubs was won by the Westerns by about three clean feet. The time was: Westerns, 4:29; Pullmans, 4:30. The last race was a special half-mile sculling contest between Frank E. Yates, the ex-champion sculler of the United States, and George B. Jennison, of the Farragut Club, who won handily, shutting out Yates before half the specified distance was rowed.

Speed at Monmouth Park.

MONMOUTH PARK, N. J., July 18.—Following is the summary of Saturday's Monmouth Park racing: First race, free handicap, one mile—Bess first, Stone Buck second, Gardy third—time, 1:43¼. Second race, the Atlantic stakes, for 2-year-olds, three-fourths of a mile—Prince Royal first, Now or Never finished second, Mirabeau third, but on account of a foul Mirabeau was given second place—time, 1:15¼. Third race, the Stockton stakes for 3-year-olds, one and one-fourth miles—Hanover won, beating his only opponent, Kingdom, by four lengths—time, 2:13. Fourth race, free handicap sweepstakes, one mile and three-sixteenths—Quito first, Himalaya second, Wind Sail third—time, 3:03¼. Fifth race, the Elberon stakes, seven furlongs—Wilfred first, Ferona second, Pomona third—time, 1:30. Sixth race, purse $500, selling, one mile and a furlong—Lancaster first, Lottery second, Pegasus third—time, 1:58. Seventh race, handicap steeplechase, full course—Jim McGowan first, Major Pickett second, Montmore third—time, 4:59½.

Closing Events at Washington Park.

CHICAGO, July 18.—At the closing day at Washington Park the following were the winners: First race, for 3-year-olds and upwards three-quarters of a mile—Pearl L. won, Derby second, Violin third—time, 1:15¼. Extra race, three-quarters of a mile—Florence E. won, Glenn Hall second, Blue Eyes third—time, 1:14¾. Second race, one mile—Jacobin won, Glen Fisher second, Howard Gray third. Third race, Finality stakes, mile and a half, Terra Cotta won, Hindoo Rose second, Safe Ban third—time, 2:41¼. Fourth race, consolation purse, mile and a furlong, Hottentot won, Rebel Scout second, Probus third—time, 1:57¼. Fifth race, consolation purse, mile and a furlong, Wanderoo won, Cardinal McCloskey second, Allegheny third—time, 1:57.

The Ball Score.

At Saturday's baseball games the following scores were made: New York 4, Chicago 9; Boston 6, Indianapolis 1; Philadelphia 10, Detroit 0; Washington 5, Pittsburg 3; Cincinnati 2, Brooklyn 6; Louisville 9, Baltimore 5; St. Louis 9, Athletics 2.

The Krug Murder Case.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The sixth day of the Krug murder case opened with the appearance of Professor Larimore, who got the Court's order for the portion of Lucy Heidelmeyer's liver which the Court directed to be given to him and Professor Van Rheimback for a chemical examination. The Judge and jury were promptly in court, but the witness, Mrs. Addie Schoenstein, was half an hour late, and a rest was taken until she arrived. Krug looked pale, hollow-eyed and anxious, and his long moustache had a desponding droop. When Mrs. Schoenstein took the stand her cross-examination was at once begun with the assistance of an interpreter. This examination was long and searching, but did not shake the testimony previously given in the least. She was a cousin of Lucy Heidelmeyer's and Krug's housekeeper when Lucy was sick. Her story of Krug's changing the medicine, her complaint of its bitter taste when he had handled it, her fainting spells and violent cramps after eating soup he prepared, were all gone over again in detail. He forced her to take medicine which Lucy said "knocked her stomach all to pieces," and she had terrible attacks of cramps. Krug appropriated her clothing and valuables as soon as Lucy died, and wanted to hurry up her burial without notifying the relatives.

Chicago's Great Camp.

CHICAGO, July 18.—This city is making most elaborate preparations for the celebration of her semi-centennial in October, in the form of an international military encampment. From recent advices the management is encouraged to believe that Norway, Sweden, and Denmark will each send a company, with staff and company officers. It is expected that the Netherlands will send a company, with officers, which will serve as an escort to Lieut.-Gen. Verspyck, aide-de-camp general of the King, if circumstances permit him to accept the special invitation extended. It is hoped that France will send a company from the graduating class of the government military school of St. Cyr, the West Point of the republic. Switzerland will send a company of rifles and officers, and Belgium will send a company of the Gardes Civiques.

Attempted Abduction of a Young Lady.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 18.—Unknown persons entered the room of Miss Langdon, an attractive and respectable young lady of 18, at midnight, chloroformed her, and were carrying off the unconscious girl, when they were frightened away by the screams of Miss Moscowitz, who lived in the same house. Hearing a noise in Miss Langdon's room, Miss Moscowitz went to investigate. She found the window open and saw Miss Langdon lying on the front porch. The victim of the outrage can give no clew to the identity of the would-be abductors. For some weeks she has received notes couched in tender terms, signed "Raymond." The police are trying to find the perpetrators of the outrage.

Official Notice.

Published by authority of the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County.

OFFICE OF COUNTY AGENT, }
JANESVILLE, Wis., July 8, 1887. }

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until Wednesday July 20th, 1887, at 10 o'clock a. m., for furnishing coal for Rock county, as follows:

Two hundred tons anthracite coal (large egg) to be delivered on board cars at Lima station when agreed upon, but all to be received before October 1st, 1887.

Fifty five tons anthracite coal (large egg) delivered in basement of court house, city of Janesville.

Thirty tons anthracite coal (small egg) and fifteen tons anthracite coal (chestnut) delivered in bins at the jail, city of Janesville.

The coal for court house and jail to be delivered when ordered; but all to be delivered before October 1st, 1887.

Fifty tons anthracite coal (chestnut) to be delivered on orders, in such quantities, at such places and at such times as the superintendent of poor may direct, in the city of Janesville, prior to May 1st, 1888.

The coal must all be of the best quality of the kinds offered, fresh mined and well screened when delivered.

Bids will be received for all rail coal or for cargo coal on separate blanks; blanks and guaranty furnished by county agent upon application.

All coal delivered at court house and jail to be weighed on city scales by John Pitcher, weighmaster, at the expense of the county.

A written guaranty accompanying proposals required in the penal sum of $500.00, or in lieu thereof the bidder may deposit with the county treasurer the sum of $500.00 in money.

All moneys deposited will be returned to unsuccessful bidders on award of contract, and to successful bidders when contract is entered into and bond for the faithful performance of said contract duly executed and delivered.

All bids must be stated in writing and figures both, and must contain name and location of mine or mines from which coal offered is taken otherwise they will not be considered.

The committee appointed by the county board reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

Address all bids to the undersigned marked "proposals for coal." W. F. WILLIAMS, County Agent.

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Two Hundred Children Rescued.

NEW YORK, July 18.—An hour before daybreak a fire broke out at St. Joseph's asylum. Nearly two hundred children were asleep within the walls. The sisters in charge, who throughout the scene of terror and confusion that followed struggled with great heroism to preserve order and to facilitate the work of rescue, aroused the sleepers promptly and sped them on their way to the street. The thick smoke and unknown terrors that beset their way threw them into a panic, however, and the sisters maintained their hold upon them with difficulty. A policeman luckily came to the rescue and gave valuable assistance in removing the little ones. With his aid the building was soon cleared and the children directed to a police station, where they were marshaled by the sisters. None was missing.

Hubert Butze, a 9-year-old orphan, was severely burned in escaping. His clothes caught fire and his face and limbs were badly scorched. A hook-and-ladder company reached the asylum as the last of the children were emerging on the street. Shrieks were heard from an upper story, and three female attendants were found to be imprisoned on the third floor. They had not dared to follow the children down stairs. Ladders were thrown up to the window and they were carried down. The girls were Christina White, Elizabeth Haineschnake, and Josephine Dreterbach. They were overcome with terror, but uninjured. The fire damaged the building $2,500. How it broke out is not known.

Terrible Explosion of Molten Metal.

CHICAGO, July 18.—A horrible accident occurred Saturday at the Union Steel works, corner of Ashland and Archer avenues, by which three men are likely to die. The men were engaged in pouring hot iron into a mold that was damp, when the metal flew and seared them dreadfully. They were taken to the County hospital, and the physicians declare that their recovery is out of the question. Two of the injured are Poles and the third a Hungarian. The explosion occurred in what is known as the steel mill, and was caused by pouring molten iron into a "green" kettle. These "kettles" are lined with clay, and the clay in this was not yet dry, and in consequence the hot iron, striking the moist lining, generated steam and was thrown all over the building.

Nine men were struck by the molten iron, and three will die. Their names are:

MICHAEL HISCHE.
GEORGE WOODFORD.
FERAL KUTSCHE.

The following were seriously injured, but will probably recover:

JAMES HENNEKE, 2894 Poplar avenue.
SAMUEL WAKELEY, 3005 Paulina street.
JAMES HURST, 61 Mill street.
DAVID JENKINS, 1445 31th court.

Woodford and Hische were married and Woodford lived at 2983 Archer avenue. They and Kutsche were taken to the hospital, while the other men were removed to their home, J. F. Johnson, the foreman, was also struck by the flying metal and slightly injured.

Iron Works Destroyed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 18.—Shortly after 7 o'clock last evening a fire broke out in the plate department of Hammond & Sons' iron works and in less than an hour the entire plant excepting the puddling department was in ruins and $50,000 worth of machinery was badly damaged. The cause of the fire is unknown. The loss is estimated at $150,000; insurance about $75,000. Two hundred men are thrown out of employment by the disaster. During the progress of the fire James Fox, a colored workman, was quite seriously injured by falling timbers. It was also rumored that another colored employe had been burned to death.

Five Yachtsmen Drowned.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 18.—A storm Sunday did considerable damage in this section. A large number of trees and fences were destroyed, and a portion of the bridge which spans the Newark & New York railroad tracks at Arlington avenue was carried away. Lightning struck the Dutch Reformed church and did some damage. The yacht Tough of this city was sailing near Staten Island when the storm arose. Those on board saw another yacht with five occupants go over. The Tough's crew were unable to render aid and the five men were drowned.

A Village Blaze.

MANTENO, Ill., July 18.—The wind blew from the southwest yesterday, otherwise this pretty little town would have been completely wiped out. A large elevator, a coal yard, some hay barns, a hay press, and several freight cars went up in smoke and showers of sparks during the afternoon. Haystacks, fields of grain and stubble, and patches of dry prairie were also burned, for the sparks flew a mile or more to the northeast, and flashed up into flames almost everywhere they lit. The people were badly frightened and expected to be left homeless. Nearly all the furniture in the place was piled in the middle of the streets and in the neighboring fields within a few minutes after the fire began. The fire company of Peotone hastened down on an Illinois Central train and did all it could to top the fire. The loss was about $38,000.

Severe Gale in Wisconsin.

NEW LONDON, Wis., July 18.—About 4:30 p. m., Sunday, a terrific windstorm passed over the section of country west of here, working great destruction to property and standing crops. At Ostrander, seven miles west of here, the large chair and furniture factory of the Wolf River Manufacturing Company was badly wrecked and their paint shop and warehouses were completely destroyed. East of the factory, where some machinery was housed in a shed, a lot of sheep took refuge and were killed. At Northport, three miles west of here, the steeple of the Catholic church was blown away and the bridge over Wolf river is a complete wreck. The destruction of timber and grain will figure as quite an important loss.

A Gale in Northern Michigan.

MARQUETTE, Mich., July 18.—The wires were blown down over the Upper Peninsular by a great wind and rain storm Saturday afternoon. Reports of damage are coming in. At Michigamme houses were unroofed, gardens destroyed, trees uprooted, and a big boom of logs at the sawmills scattered over the lake. At Escanaba three houses were struck and badly damaged by lightning. In Ishpeming, Negaunee, and Marquette the storm was severe, but no serious damage is reported.

Car Works Burned.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 18.—At midnight a fire broke out in the Terre Haute Car Works, and at this time nearly all the buildings are gone with contents. The works were very busy, running day and night, employing 700 men. The buildings themselves were not worth much, but the material and machinery and tools will swell the loss to at least $150,000. Insurance not known. Forty finished box-cars were destroyed.

Destructive Forest Fires.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 18.—Telegrams from Brockwayville, in the lumber regions of Pennsylvania, report forest fires raging in every direction and fears are entertained for a number of settlements which are threatened with destruction. Large forces are at work fighting the flames, but so far all efforts to extinguish them have been fruitless. The loss up to the present time is estimated at $25,000.

A Cart Factory Destroyed.

COLDWATER, Mich., July 18.—The entire plant, buildings, machinery, stock and fixtures of the Coldwater Road Cart Company and the Coldwater Manufacturing Company, burned. Loss, $25,000; insured for $18,000. One hundred men are thrown out of employment. The works will be rebuilt immediately.

Fire Damp Explosion.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 18.—By an explosion of fire damp in the Port Royal coal mines, near West Newton, Pa., four miners were seriously burned, one of them, George Susser, it is thought, being fatally injured. The others will recover. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Firedamp Explosion.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 18.—By an explosion of firedamp in the Port Royal coal mines, near West Newton, Pa., four miners were seriously burned, one of them, George Susser, it is thought, being fatally injured. The others will recover.

RIVER IMPROVMENTS.

The Results of the Government's Work not Encouraging.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The Chief of Engineers has received the annual report of Capt. E. H. Puffner, United States Engineer, upon the improvement of the Mississippi from the Des Moines rapids to the mouth of the Illinois river. After describing the dredging operations of the year and their effect, Capt. Puffner says:

"The general result of the work on this part of the river during the past nine years is not encouraging. The river is so large that the money appropriated was not enough to build works of contraction in sufficient numbers to control the river to such a degree as to enable an engineer to predict what the final result would be in depth of channel. At many places troublesome bars have been removed and brought to a semi-permanent position where they are out of the way. It cannot be stated that the general depth of the navigable channel has been increased.

Capt. Puffner proposes that hydraulic dredges be constructed with which sand-bars can be cut through as often as they form, and thinks that in this way a good navigable channel may be maintained.

A Victim of Hydrophobia.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 18.—Howard T. Nachtrieb, a young man employed in the barns of the Brooklyn street railroad, complained of headache while at work Sunday afternoon and shortly afterward fell to the ground in convulsions. He was taken to his home on Burton street, where frothing at the mouth, violent struggles, inability to swallow water, and other acute symptoms of hydrophobia rapidly developed. Ten days ago he attempted to rescue his dog from the jaws of a stray cur and received a trifling scratch on the back of his hand from the teeth of the latter. The wound soon healed and he thought nothing of it.

Buried Alive Fifty Years.

BOSTON, Mass., July 18.—Workmen engaged in digging a cellar at the corner of Washington and Vernon streets unearthed a huge turtle several feet below the surface. The creature measured two feet and a half in length of shell, and a little over a foot in width. Its tail is over a foot long, and is armed with seven sharp spikes of horn. Experts say it is 150 years old. The spot where it was found is the site of a small pond, which was filled up in 1836, and the creature has remained contented buried alive for more than half a century. It is quite lively and vicious.

She Was Wise.

"And had I better speak to your father tonight dear?" he asked, as he suddenly continued to hold on to her with both arms. "No, George," she answered from his top vest button, "not to-night. It is nearly 12 o'clock, and papa has doubtless gone to bed."

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes and heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpractised eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the recalcitrant organ, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did, and of course the individual was NOT using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless altertative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactivity, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

A Celebrated Russian Comedian.

Russia has recently lost one of her most celebrated comedians, Vassil Samoiloff, who was as much admired for his ready wit as for his thorough knowledge of his art. The old actor was very fond of recounting his adventures, one of which bears a strong likeness to stories told of several other comedians. On one occasion the Emperor Nicholas sent for him, and then and there, without the slighest preparation or warning, told Samoiloff to imitate him. The comedian promptly seized a helmet, placed it on his own head, and then turning to the Minister on duty said with an air of authority: "You will grant Samoiloff two months' leave and give him 5,000 roubles out of the imperial Treasury." The Czar laughed heartily and ordered his Minister to comply with the command. Another time Samoiloff, in a place which he was playing, imitated to the life a certain Count, notorious for his eccentricities and extravagance. The Count, who happened to be among the audience, went up to the actor behind the scenes and congratulated him upon his success, but added that the resemblance would be more striking if, instead of the gold shirt-studs which he was wearing, Samoiloff had put on diamond studs. Then, suiting the action to the word, the Count took off his own diamond studs and presented them to the comedian. Samoiloff was a general favorite and his many sallies were applauded even by those at whose expense he indulged his wit.

Gentle Woman's Revenge.

Husband and wife had had a little tiff. He buried his nose in a morning paper, while she gazed out the car window with persistent fatentness. Thus an hour and thirty miles passed. A lady entered the car. Husband dropped his paper and looked at her admiringly.

"Ah," said he, "that's a fine woman. And a widow, too. Don't you think she's handsome?"

"Yes, rather. You seem to like widows."

"Indeed I do. They're just charming."

Husband evidently thought this would pique his partner. But it didn't.

"Alfred," said she, tenderly, and placing her hand softly on his arm, "Alfred, I guess I was in the wrong a little while ago, when I became angry at you, and I'm sorry, so sorry. Will you forgive little wife?"

"Certainly. Don't say another word about it."

"And will you grant a little request I have to make of you, hubby dear?"

"Of course. Anything that lies in my power."

"You say you think that widows are so charming?"

"Yes; I did say so, but——"

"Then make me one; that's a good husband mine. Oh, I shall be so happy."

A Clean Sell.

A shrewd countryman was in New York the other day, gawky, uncouth, and innocent enough in appearance, but in reality, with his eye teeth cut. Passing up through the Jews' quarter, he was continually encountered with importunities to buy. From almost every store some one rushed out, in accordance with the annoying custom of that street, to seize upon and try to force him to purchase. At last one dirty-looking fellow caught him by the arm, and clamorously urged him to become a customer.

"Have you got any shirts?" inquired the countryman, with a very innocent look.

"A splendid assortment, sir. Step in, sir. Every price, and every style. The cheapest in the street, sir."

"Are they clean?"

"To be sure, sir. Step in, sir."

"Then," resumed the countryman, with perfect gravity, "put on one, for you need it."

The rage of the shop-keeper may be imagined, as the countryman, turning upon his heel, quietly pursued his way.

A Famous Writer Failing.

"No, I write no more. I have done, I have done, I have done!" Anything more pitiful, more pathetic, more tragic cannot be imagined than the effect of the above few words, coming in broken and faltering accents from the lips of Harriet Beecher Stowe. That the bright intellect of the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is undoubtedly shattered cannot be longer denied. The pathos, enthusiasm, and fire that have built her fame are all blended into a child-like and pitiful simplicity. The scenes and events that have been the soil for soul food for millions of thinking people are all merged into broken dreams. The well-filled shelves in her library alone carry the burden of sorrow, strife, and joy that have rift the brain-mother with their travail, and eternity is even now half-way here to meet the grand soul to which is ascribed the honor of being one of the direct causes of precipitating the civil war through her wonderful human Bible.

WATERING THE FLOCKS.

DR. TALMAGE'S SECOND SERMON AT THE HAMPTONS.

The World's Great Want Is a Cool, Refreshing, Satisfying Draught—The Gospel Well Deep Enough to Quench the Thirst of All.

THE HAMPTONS, July 17.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D.D., pastor at the Brooklyn Tabernacle, continues to enjoy the summer in this pleasant place. His sermon for today was on the text, "We cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."—Genesis xxix, 8.

A scene in Mesopotamia, beautifully pastoral. A well of water of great value in that region. The fields around about it white with three flocks of sheep lying down waiting for the watering. I hear their bleating coming on the bright air, and the laughter of young men and maidens indulging in rustic repartee. I look off and I see other flocks of sheep coming. Meanwhile Jacob, a stranger, on the interesting errand of looking for a wife, comes to the well. A beautiful shepherdess comes to the same well. I see her approaching, followed by her father's flock of sheep. It was a memorable meeting. Jacob married that shepherdess. The Bible account of it is: "Jacob kissed Rachel, and lifted up his voice and wept." It has always been a mystery to me what he found to cry about! But before that scene occurred, Jacob accosts the shepherds and asks them why they postpone the slaking of the thirst of these sheep and why they did not immediately proceed to water them. The shepherds reply to the effect: "We are all good neighbors, and as a matter of courtesy we wait until all the sheep of the neighborhood come up. Besides that, this stone on the well's mouth is somewhat heavy, and several of us take hold of it and push it aside, and then the buckets and the troughs are filled, and the sheep are satisfied. We cannot, until all the flocks are gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."

Oh, this is a thirsty world! Hot for the head, and blistering for the feet, and parching for the tongue. The world's great want is a cool, refreshing, satisfying draught. We wander around and we find the cistern empty. Long and tedious drought has dried up the world's fountains, but nearly nineteen centuries ago a shepherd with crook in the shape of a cross, and feet cut to the bleeding, explored the desert passages of this world, and one day came across a well a thousand feet deep, bubbling and bright and opalescent, and looked to the north, and the south, and the east, and the west, and cried out with a voice strong and musical that rang through the ages, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters!"

Now a great flock of sheep today gather around this Gospel well. There are a great many thirsty souls. I wonder why the flocks of all nations do not gather—why so many stay thirsty; and while I am wondering about it, my text breaks forth in the explanation, saying: "We cannot, until all the flocks be gathered together, and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."

If a herd of swine come to a well they angrily jostle each other for the precedence; if a drove of cattle come to a well, they hook each other back from the water, but when a flock of sheep come, though a hundred of them shall be disappointed, they only express it by sad bleating; they come together peacefully. We want a great multitude to come around the Gospel well. I know there are those who do not like a crowd—they think a crowd is vulgar. If they are oppressed for room in church it makes them positively impatient and belligerent. We have had people permanently leave our church because so many other people come to it. No so did these oriental shepherds. They waited until all the flocks were gathered, and the more flocks that came the better they liked it. And so we ought to be anxious that all the people should come. Go out into the highways and the hedges and compel them to come in. Go to the rich and tell them they are indigent without the Gospel of Jesus. Go to the poor and tell them the affluence there is in Christ. Go to the blind and tell them of the touch that gives eternal illumination. Go to the lame and tell them of the joy that will make the lame man leap like a hart. Gather all the sheep off of all the mountains. None so torn of the dogs, none so sick, none so worried, none so dying, as to be omitted. Why not gather a great flock? All Brooklyn in a flock; all New York in a flock; all London in a flock; all the world in a flock. This Gospel well is deep enough to put out the burning thirst of the twelve hundred millions of the race. Do not let the church, by a spirit of exclusiveness, keep the world out. Let down all the bars, swing open all the gates, scatter all the invitations, "Whosoever will, let him come." Come, white and black. Come, red men of the forest. Come, Laplander, out of the snow. Come, Patagonian, out of the heat. Come in furs. Come panting under palm leaves. Come one. Come all. Come now. As at this well of Mesopotamia Jacob and Rachel were betrothed, so this morning at this well of salvation Christ our Shepherd will meet you coming up with your long flocks of cares and anxieties, and he will stretch out his hand in pledge of his affection, while all heaven will cry out, "Behold, the bridegroom cometh; go ye out to meet him."

You notice that this well of Mesopotamia had a stone on it, which must be removed before the sheep could be watered; and I find on the well of salvation today impediments and obstacles, which must be removed in order that you may obtain the refreshment and life of this gospel. In your case the impediment is pride of heart. You cannot bear to come to so democratic a fountain; you do not want to come with so many others. It is to you like when you are dry, coming to a town pump, as compared with sitting in a parlor sipping out of a chased chalice which has just been lifted from a silver salver. Not so many publicans and sinners. You want to get to heaven, but it must be in a special car, with your feet on a Turkish ottoman and a band of music on board the train. You do not want to be in company with rustic Jacob and Rachel, and to be drinking out of the fountain where ten thousand sheep have been drinking before you. You will have to remove the obstacle of pride, or never find your way to the well. You will have to come as we came, willing to take the water of eternal life in any way, and at any hand, and in any kind of pitcher, crying out: "Oh, Lord Jesus, I am dying of thirst. Give me the water of eternal life, whether in trough or goblet; give me the water of life; I care not in what it comes to me." Away with all your hindrances of pride from the well's mouth.

Here is another man who is kept back from this water of life by the stone of an obdurate heart, which lies over the mouth of the well. You have no more feeling upon this subject than if God had yet to do you the first kindness, or you had to do God the first wrong. Seated on his lap all these years, his everlasting arms sheltering you, where is your gratitude? Where is your morning and evening prayer? Where are your consecrated lives? I say to you, as Daniel said to Belshazzar: "The God in whose hand thy breath is, and all thy way, thou hast not glorified." If you treated anybody as badly as you have treated God you would have made 500 apologies; yea, your whole life would have been an apology. Three times a day you have been seated at God's table. Spring, summer, autumn and winter he has appropriately appareled you. Your health from him, your companion from him, your children from him, your home from him; all the bright surrounding of your life from him. O man, what dost thou with that hard heart? Canst thou not feel one throb of gratitude toward the God that made you, and the Christ who came to redeem you, and the Holy Ghost who has all these years been importuning you? If you could sit down five minutes under the tree of a Saviour's martyrdom, and feel his warm life trickling on your forehead, and cheek, and hands, methinks you would get some appreciation of what you owe to a crucified Jesus.

Heart of stone, relent, relent,
Touched by Jesus' cross subdued,
See his body, mangled, rent,
Covered with a gore of blood,
Sinful soul, what hast thou done?
Crucified the eternal Son.

Jacob with a good deal of tug and push took the stone from the well's mouth, so that the flocks might be watered. And I would that this morning my word, blessed of God, might remove the hindrances to your getting up to the Gospel well. Yea, I take it for granted that the work is done, and now, like oriental shepherds, I proceed to water the sheep.

Come, all ye thirsty! You have an undefined longing in your soul. You tried money making; that did not satisfy you. You tried office under government; that did not satisfy you. You tried pictures and sculptures; but works of art did not satisfy you. You are as much discontented with this life as the celebrated French author who felt that he could not any longer endure the misfortunes of the world, and who said: "At 4 o'clock this afternoon I shall put an end to my own existence. Meanwhile, I must toil on up to that time for the sustenance of my family." And he wrote on his book until the clock struck 4, when he folded up his manuscript and, by his own hand, concluded his earthly life. There are men in this house who are perfectly discontented. Unhappy in the past, unhappy today, to be unhappy forever, unless you come to this Gospel well. This satisfies the soul with a high, deep, all absorbing and eternal satisfaction. It comes, and it offers the most unfortunate man so much of this world as is best for him, and throws all heaven into the bargain. The wealth of Crœsus, and of all the Stewarts, and of all the Barings, and all the Rothschilds is only a poor, miserable shilling compared with the eternal fortunes that Christ offers you today. In the far east there was a king who used once a year to get on a scales, while on the other side the scales were placed gold and silver and gems; indeed enough were placed there to balance the king; then, at the close of the weighing, all those treasures were thrown among the populace. But Christ today steps on one side the scales, and on the other side are all the treasures of the universe, and he says: "All are yours—all height, all depth, all length, all breadth, all eternity; all are yours." We don't appreciate the promises of the Gospel. When an aged clergyman was dying—a man very eminent in the church—a young theological student stood by his side, and the aged man looked up and said to him: "Can't you give me some comfort in my dying hour?" "No," said the young man; "I can't talk to you on this subject; you know all about it, and have known it so long." "Well," said the dying man, "just recite to me some promises." The young man thought a moment, and he came to this promise: "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin;" and the old man clapped his hands, and in his dying moment said: "That's just the promise I have been waiting for. 'The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin.'" Oh, the warmth, the grandeur, the magnificence of the promises!

Come also to this Gospel well, all ye troubled. I do not suppose you have escaped. Compare your view of this life at 15 years of age with what your view is of it at 40, or 60, or 70. What a great contrast of opinion! Were you right then, or are you right now? Two cups placed in your hands—the one a sweet cup, the other a sour cup. A cup of joy and a cup of grief. Which has been the nearest to being full, and out of which have you the more frequently partaken? What a different place Greenwood is from what it used to be? Once it was to you a grand city improvement, and you went out on the pleasure excursion, and you ran laughingly up the mound, and you criticised in a light way the epitaph. But since the day when you heard the bell toll at the gate when you went in with the procession, it is a sad place and there is a flood of rushing memories that suffuse the eye and overmaster the heart. Oh, you have had trouble, trouble, trouble. God only knows how much you have had. It is a wonder you have been able to live through it. It is a wonder your nervous system has not been shattered, and your brain has not reeled. Trouble, trouble. If I could gather all the griefs, of all sorts, from this great audience, and could put them in one scroll, neither man nor angel could endure the recitation. Well, what do you want? Would you like to have your property back again? "No," you say, as a Christian man, "I was becoming arrogant, and I think that is why the Lord took it away. I don't want to have my property back." Well, would you have your departed friends back again? "No," you say, "I couldn't take the responsibility of bringing them from a tearless realm to a realm of tears. I couldn't do it." Well, then, what do you want? A thousand voices in the audience cry out: "Comfort, give us comfort." For that reason I have rolled away the stone from the well's mouth. Come, all ye wounded of the flock, pursued of the wolves, come to the fountain where the Lord's sick and bereft ones have come.

"Ah," says some one, "you are not old enough to understand my sorrows. You have not been in the world as long as I have, and you can't talk to me about my misfortunes in the time of old age." Well, I may not have lived as long as you, but I have been a great deal among old people, and I know how they feel about their failing health, and about their departed friends, and about the loneliness that sometimes strikes through their souls. After two persons have lived together for forty or fifty years, and one of them is taken away, what desolation! I shall not forget the cry of the late Rev. Dr. De Witt, of New York, when he stood by the open grave of his beloved wife, and, after the obsequies had ended, he looked down into the open place and said: "Farewell, my honored, faithful and beloved wife. The bond that bound us is severed. Thou art in glory, and I am here on earth. We shall meet again. Farewell! Farewell!" To lean on a prop for fifty years, and then have it break under you! There were only two years' difference between the death of my father and mother. After my mother's decease, my father used to go around as though looking for something; he would often get up from one room, without any seeming reason, and go to another room; and then he would take his cane and start out and some one would say: "Father, where are you going?" and he would answer: "I don't know exactly where I am going." Always looking for something. Though he was a tender hearted man, I never saw him cry but once, and that was at the burial of my mother. After sixty years' living together it was hard to part. And there are aged people today who are feeling just such a pang as that. I want to tell them there is perfect enchantment in the promises of this Gospel; and I come to them and offer them my arm, or I take their arm and I bring them to this Gospel. Sit down, father or mother, sit down. See if there is anything at the well for you. Come, David, the Psalmist, have you anything encouraging to offer them? "Yes," says the Psalmist: "They shall bring forth fruit in old age, they shall be fat and flourishing, to show that the Lord is upright, he is my rock, and there is no unrighteousness in me." Come, Isaiah, have you anything to say out of your prophecies for these aged people? "Yes," says Isaiah: "Down to old age, I am with thee, and to heary hairs will I carry thee." Well, if the Lord is going to carry you, you ought not to worry much about your failing eyesight and failing limbs. You get a little worried for fear some time you will come to want, do you? Your children and grandchildren sometimes speak a little sharp at you because of your ailments. The Lord will not speak sharp. Do you think you will come to want? Who do you think the Lord is? Are his granaries empty? Will he feed the raven, and the rabbit, and the lion in the desert, and forget you? Why, naturalists tell us that the porpoise will not forsake its wounded and sick mate. And do you suppose the Lord of heaven and earth has not as much sympathy as the fish of the sea? But you say: "I am so near worn out, and I am of no use to God any more." I think the Lord knows whether you are of any more use or not; if you were of no more use he would have taken you before this. Do you think God has forgotten you because he has taken care of you seventy or eighty years? He thinks more of you today than he ever did, because you think more of him. May the God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and Paul the aged, be your God forever!

But I gather all the promises today in a group, and I ask the shepherds to drive their flocks of lambs and sheep up to the sparkling supply. "Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth." "Though he cause grief, yet will he have compassion." "Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivereth him out of them all." "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." I am determined this morning that no one shall go out of this house uncomforted. Yonder is a timid and shrinking soul who seems to hide away from the consolations I am uttering, as a child with a sore hand hides away from the physician lest he touch the wound too roughly, and the mother has to go and compel the little patient to come out and see the physician. So I come to your timid and shrinking soul today and compel you to come out in the presence of the Divine Physician. He will not hurt you. He has been healing wounds for many years, and he will give you gentle and omnipotent medicament. But people, when they have trouble, go anywhere rather than to God. DeQuincy took opium to get rid of his troubles. Charles Lamb took to punch. Theodore Hook to something stronger. Edwin Forrest took to theatrical dissipation. And men have run all around the earth, hoping in the quick transit to get away from their misfortunes. It has been a dead failure. There is only one well that can slake the thirst of an afflicted spirit, and that is the deep and inexhaustible well of the Gospel.

But some one says in the audience: "Notwithstanding all you have said this morning I find no alleviation for my troubles." Well, I am not through yet. I have left the most potent consideration for the last. I am going to soothe you with the thought of heaven. However talkative we may be, there will come a time when the stoutest and most emphatic interrogation will evoke from us no answer. As soon as we have closed our lips for the final silence no power on earth can break their taciturnity. But where, oh Christian, will be your spirit? In a scene of infinite gladness. The spring morning of heaven waving its blossoms in the bright air. Victors fresh from battle showing their scars. The rain of earthly sorrow struck through with the rainbow of eternal joy. In one group God and angels and the redeemed—Paul and Silas, Latimer and Ridley, Isaiah and Jeremiah, Payson and John Milton, Gabriel and Michael, the archangel. Long line of choristers reaching across the hills. Seas of joy dashing to the white beach. Conquerors marching from gate to gate. You among them.

Oh, what a great flock of sheep God will gather around the celestial well! No stone on the well's mouth while the Shepherd waters the sheep. There Jacob will recognize Rachel the shepherdess. And standing on one side of the well of eternal rapture, your children; and standing on the other side of eternal rapture, your Christian ancestry, you will be bounded on all sides by a joy so keen and grand that no other world has ever been permitted to experience it. Out of that one deep well of heaven the shepherd will dip reunion for the bereaved, wealth for the poor, health for the sick, rest for the weary. And then all the flock of the Lord's sheep will lie down in the green pastures, and world without end will praise the Lord that on this summer Sabbath morning we were permitted to study the story of Jacob and Rachel the shepherdess at the well in Mesopotamia.

A Bonanza in Honey.

Prison Director Sonntag recently moved into the Orr residence at San Rafael. During the late hot weather he was surprised to find streams of honey dripping from the eaves of his house. Bees were seen to come and go from the kitchen roof, and on removing a board Mr. Sonntag discovered a bonanza of honey ten feet long by two feet thick. He managed to take out 100 pounds. Before the find could be utilized the bees had to be killed, but at last accounts there were enough left to make that particular part of the residence uncomfortable.—Alta California.

A Plot Against Emperor William.

PARIS, July 18.—L'Intransigeant of Sunday reports that the police of Grass Geran, a German town in Hesse, near Darmstadt, have discovered documents which disclose a socialist plot to murder Emperor William on his journey to Gastein to-day. There is great excitement over the alleged disclosure, and many arrests have been made.

A Commendable Project.

LONDON, July 18.—One hundred members of the House of Commons have formed a committee for the purpose of endeavoring to cheapen the postal and telegraph charges between the mother country and the colonies.

No matter what parts it may finally affect, catarrh always starts in the head and belongs to the head. There is no mystery about the origin of this direful disease. It begins in a neglected cold. One of the kind that is "sure to be better in a few days." Thousands of victims know how it is by sad experience. Ely's Cream Balm cures colds in the head and catarrh in all its stages. Not a snuff nor a liquid.

Won't Serve as Evictors.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 18.—The new men who were sent to the coke regions all went to work this morning, and the operators say that the reports from the regions to-day indicate that the great strike will collapse in a few days. Evidence of a break is being brought to the notice of the leaders at every turn, and the labor people are more disheartened to-day than at any time during the strike. The Sheriff has experienced considerable difficulty in procuring deputies to assist in evicting strikers at Red Stone and Leisenring, and when imprisonment was threatened all available men secreted themselves. Sheriff Miller is determined to proceed, and a number of evictions were made Saturday afternoon.

Lynchers Feared.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., July 18.—Twenty-five extra deputy sheriffs have been sworn in and are patrolling the streets leading to the jail, fearing an attempt to lynch Amer Green, charged with the Broomfield murder. All sorts of rumors are afloat, and an attack is expected at any moment. One hundred and fifty men are reported as organizing two miles south.

Skin and Scalp

Cleansed, Purified and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies

For cleansing the Skin and Scalp of Disfiguring Humors, for allaying itching, burning and inflammation, for curing the first symptoms of Eczema, Psoriasis, Milk Crust, Scaly Head, Scrofula, and other inherited skin and blood diseases, Cuticura, the great skin cure, and Cuticura soap, and exquisite skin beautifier, externally, and Cuticura Resolvent, the new blood purifier, internally, are infallible.

A COMPLETE CURE.
I have suffered all my life with skin diseases of different kinds, and have never found permanent relief until, by the advice of a lady friend, I used your valuable Cuticura Remedies I gave them a thorough trial, using six bottles of the Cuticura Resolvent, two boxes of Cuticura and seven cakes of Cuticura Soap, and the result was just what I had been told it would be—a complete cure. BELL WADE, Richmond, Va.
Reference, G. W. Latimer, druggist, Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM CURED.
I was troubled with Salt Rheum for a number of years, so that the skin came entirely off one of my hands from the finger tips to the wrist. I tried remedies and doctors' prescriptions to no purpose until I commenced taking Cuticura Remedies, and now I am entirely cured. E. T. PARKER, 379 Northampton, Boston

DRUGGISTS ENDORSE IT.
Having sold a quantity of your Cuticura Remedies. One of my customers, Mrs. Henry Klatz, who had tetter on her hand to such an extent as to cause the skin to peel off, and for eight years she suffered greatly, was completely cured by the use of your medicine.
O. N. NYE, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

ITCHING, SCALY, PIMPLY.
For the last year I have had a species of itching, scaly and pimply humors on my face to which I have applied a great many methods of treatment without success, and which was speedily cured by Cuticura.
Mrs. ISAAC PHELPS, Ravenna, Ohio.

NO MEDICINE LIKE THEM.
We have sold your Cuticura Remedies for the last six years, and no medicines on our shelves give better satisfaction.
C. F. ATHERTON, Druggist, Albany, N. Y.

Are sold by all druggists. Price: Cuticura 50 cents; Resolvent, $1.00; Soap, 25 cents. Potter Drug and Chemical Co., Boston. Send for "How to cure skin diseases."
GRUB Pimples, Skin Blemishes, and baby Humors, cured by Cuticura Soap.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of all sufferers in advertized remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery, rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.
But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.
Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.
Each package contains one bottle of the Radical cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise; price, $1.

MORTGAGE SALE—WHEREAS, Default has been made in the conditions of a certain bond, duly named and executed by the parties hereinafter named, secured by a certain mortgage bearing date the 23d day of December, 1886, made, executed and delivered by Desire L. Clatworthy and Mary E. Taylor, of the city of Edgerton, Rock county, Wisconsin, as mortgagors, to Charles Dutton, of the city of Janesville, county and state above named, as mortgagee, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds, for Rock county, Wisconsin, on the 4th day of January, A. D., 1887, at two o'clock and ten minutes in the afternoon of said day, in volume 58 of mortgages on page 419, and

WHEREAS, The amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the time of the first publication of this notice, is the sum of three thousand dollars: Now, therefore, notice is hereby given according to the statute in such case, made and provided, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, duly recorded as aforesaid, that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises hereinafter described, by Silas Ward, sheriff of Rock county, Wisconsin, at public auction on Wednesday, July 6th, 1887, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the postoffice, in the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin.

The following is a description of the mortgaged premises so as aforesaid, to be sold, substantially as they are contained in the said mortgage:

A parcel of land in the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin, described as follows, to-wit: The east half of the east half of the South west quarter of the north west quarter, and the north west quarter of the east half of the south west quarter of the north west quarter, all in section 35, town 3, range 12. Also all that part of lots numbered 1 and 2 in section 25, township number 1, range 12, bounded on the south by the quarter section line which runs east and west through said section, on the east by Rock river, on the west by a highway which leads from the city of Beloit to the village of Afton, and on the north by lands conveyed by A. B. Carpenter to S. S. Slater, except that part of said premises conveyed by Geo. B. Sanderson and wife to the Beloit & Madison railway company.

Dated at the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin, the 24th day of May, 1887.

BRIEFLETS.

—Pay day for the Building and Loan Association.

—Soda-water men wish the cold wave had stayed in Canada.

—An adjourned meeting of the common council this evening.

—Several recruits from other cities have been added to the Salvation Army.

—Many that attended the National school exhibition in Chicago, have returned.

—Much sickness has been caused among children by the sudden change in temperature.

—Clerk Metcalf, of the school board, has been instructed to look out for the winter's supply of coal for the schools.

—Messrs. M. A. Ott & Son, harness dealers, are preparing to move their establishment to No. 17, North Main street, Cutt's building.

—Crystal Temple of Honor No. 32 assembles in regular weekly session this evening—lodge room in the Judd block, North Main street.

—New curbstone and a concrete sidewalk is to be built in front of the Evensons property on North Main street, next north of the engine house.

—Railroad men will find a complete line of Elgin and Waltham watches of required standard and the anti-magnetic cases, at A. F. Hall & Co's.

—It has been announced that no services will be held in the Congregational church next Sunday because of preparations for the new organ.

—In his yesterday's sermon the Rev. T. DeWitt Peake devoted considerable time to a scathing review of the newly revived doctrine of faith cure.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy, of the first ward, were saddened by the death of their five-months old child this morning. Funeral announcements will be made later.

—A local camp of the Modern Woodmen will soon be organized. Among the proposed members are many of the most prominent business and professional men in the city.

—Much complaint is made because horses and cows are allowed to use the High school grounds for pasturage. Several trees in the school yard have been completely ruined.

—Funeral services over the remains of Bertha Buggs, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buggs, of South Academy street, were held this afternoon. The little one died yesterday.

—Last week's dry weather sent up the price of hay beyond all bounds. One farmer "broke down" while crossing the Corn Exchange square because he tried to carry the hay and the cost mark on the same wagon.

—To-morrow the Court Street M. E. Sunday school will picnic at Crystal Springs. One trip of the steamer will be made at half past nine, one at half past twelve, one at half past two and one at half past four. The party will return in the evening.

—No wonder there is a change of temperature. T. T. Croft and Fred. A. Vankirk have gone to Green Lake for a week's camping, and, as a matter of course neglected to take their overcoats. They will have lots of fun and are just the fellows to keep a tent warm.

—At an early hour on Monday morning, July 19th, one year ago, the murder of Henry Search and wife was discovered at their farm house near the city. One year has passed since the crime was committed and no arrests have been made, and the murder is wrapped in as deep mystery as at the time it was committed.

—Arrangements have been made for transferring the shoe business of A. Richardson & Bro. to W. E. Buckingham, of Racine. Mr. Buckingham will take possession to-morrow. The retirement of the old firm will be much regretted. It was made necessary by the pressure of other business interests, particularly at the Empire Cross Springs Works, and the Richardson & Marzluff shoe factory.

—Just now the young men around town are watching for red-headed girls and white horses. Half a dozen gilded youth sat in front of Kneff & Allen's most of yesterday afternoon and kept count. There were strawberry blondes by the dozen, but every time one came along a white horse came too. It seems to be a sure thing, and, as a summer sport, is likely to get away with lawn tennis and base-ball.

—There is considerable dissatisfaction among the school commissioners because of the course taken by the board Saturday night. Had the board decided on some different system of heating for the new building before ordering plans, the expense would have been much less. Most of the commissioners now realize that this would have been the proper course.

—Captain E. D. McGowan, inspector of rifle practice for the First regiment has resigned. His other duties take up all his time and make a thorough attention to the details of the inspectorship impossible, especially since General Chapman's recent order. Captain McGowan's resignation was sent in several days ago, and his successor will probably be appointed soon.

—The new Cottrell press advertised in another column, was shipped from the factory on the 24th of June, but for some unaccountable reason has not yet arrived. The press is being traced and will doubtless be found in a few days; it has probably been side tracked, and overlooked at some way station. When in position, the Gazette job department will be as thoroughly equipped as any office in southern Wisconsin.

—Janesville "kids" now go in the river bathing not unlike a flock of wild geese feeding. One trusty sentinel takes a commanding position where he can survey the surroundings. If the patrol wagon comes in sight while the bathers are in the water, the danger signal is sounded by this sentinel and the kids take to the woods. The marshal is "onto the new racket" and will act accordingly. He proposes to enforce the ordinance if it takes all summer.

—The Rev. Dr. Hodge took for his subject at the union service last evening, "Christ's Authority." This authority, he said, came partly from Christ's perfect knowledge and partly from his divine commission. It was on this account that his teaching differed from that of the scribes, for he had the power to originate truth while they had not. Just as a general could command an army, so he could command the disciples, for "he taught as one with authority." The sermon was listened to by a large congregation, and excited much comment.

—The backbone of the heated term appears to be broken. At sunset last evening the wind suddenly shifted to the north, and in the course of an hour and a half the temperature lowered from fifteen to twenty degrees. About twelve o'clock last night a sharp thunder storm with a little rain, passed over the city. At seven o'clock this morning the temperature was noted at 60 degrees above zero, being twenty degrees lower than at the same hour yesterday morning. Many people claim this to be the longest heated term ever experienced in Janesville. A gentleman in the third ward, who has noted the temperature each day at eleven in the morning, reports the temperature at 100 and over for thirteen consecutive days. This is unprecedented. It is claimed that the season of '79 was hotter for a day or two, and others refer to the season of '75 as one of great severity. We can only compare our record with the hours of seven in the morning and one in the afternoon, which shows the weather of the past two weeks to be ahead of any previous season during the time of the record.

THE BULL LACKED HORNS.

But Made It Very Interesting for Charles Beaumont Notwithstanding.

As Charles Beaumont was going through one of A. E. Joiner's pastures this morning, he was attacked by a polled bull and narrowly escaped with his life. The animal is usually kept fastened, but this time he managed to get free. Although without horns, he managed to knock Beaumont down and injure him very severely. The young man's left leg was broken in two places, his left arm crushed and the bone fractured, and one rib broken.

Dr. James Mills was at once called to attend the sufferer, whose condition is very serious. Even should everything be favorable, the wounds will require between two and three months to heal, and may give trouble even then. Beaumont's escape, however, was a very fortunate one. All who saw the attack supposed him to be dead.

PERSONAL.

—Mrs. Ferdinand Quinn is in New York city, visiting relatives and friends.

—Will A. Jackson returned on Saturday evening from a prolonged visit in the east.

—Will. Schaller, who is now on the Northwestern road with headquarters at Milwaukee, is in the city.

—Professor R. W. Burton, formerly superintendent of our public schools, now holding a similar position at Polo, Illinois, is managing a private school of short hand and type-writing during the summer vacation, and is meeting with commendable success.

—Mr. Charles A. Sanborn returned Saturday evening from Los Angeles, California. He has made arrangements to engage in business, and will return to the Pacific coast as soon as he can close up matters here. Mr. Sanborn's many friends will wish him success in his new field of labor.

—From the Lake Geneva letter in yesterday's Inter Ocean, we learn that, "among the noted resorters this season is the Hon. Stanley B. Smith, of Janesville, who is accompanied by Mr. O. B. Conrad, a noted concert singer. Both are stopping at Reid's. Mrs. J. W. Bintliff, one of Janesville's sweetest sopranos, is also occupying a cottage at this popular park."

MORTALITY AMONG CHILDREN.

The mortality of the city, says the Milwaukee Sentinel of this morning, for the week ending Saturday, reached the unprecedented number of 139, or at the rate of 40.2 per year for each 1000 of the population. There were 26 deaths from cholera infantum, 20 from diarrhoea, 20 from infantile marasmus, 4 from dysentry, 8 from phthisis plurmoralis, and 4 from permature births. Ninety-one deaths, or 65 per cent of the total number, were of children under 1 year old, and 17 more were between the ages of 1 and 5 years. The total mortality of children is nearly 80 per cent of the total number of deaths. The largest mortality was in the ninth ward, where the number of deaths was 25. There were 20 deaths in the tenth, 13 in the thirteenth, 12 in the eleventh and 10 in the sixth. The extraordinary increase in the number of deaths is directly traceable to the extreme hot weather. The number of deaths on Friday was 30, and on Saturday 20. Register Diercks yesterday issued 32 burial permits.

IRON NEAR HOME.

A farmer residing six miles from Baraboo, was recently digging a well and when at the depth of about 40 feet he discovered a mineral substance that appeared to be in character of the same nature as is currently used in mixed paint. He took a load of it to Baraboo and on examination it was found to be iron of the first quality. Specimens were sent to Cleveland, Ohio, where a company is now being formed for future development. In the mean time the farm and adjoining land has been covered with options, and Baraboo is likely to enjoy a Gogebic boom.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 85 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 98 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 60 and 74 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 60 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 69 degrees above zero. Light rain with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago register was 58 and 87 degrees above zero.

BUILDING THE RESERVOIR.

Workmen Commence Excavating for the Reservoir at the Pumping Station.

What the Dimensions and Capacity of the Reserve Basin Will be.

Other Matter Pertaining to the Plant

Notwithstanding the fact that the wet weather of to-day and the non-arrival of special castings and fire hydrants, compelled the trench diggers to lay off to-day, a force of men under the direction of J. Frank Williams, the engineer in charge of the plant, commenced excavating this morning for the reserve reservoir on South River street, opposite and west of the artesian well. The reservoir will be 70x95 feet bottom measure, fifteen feet deep, the banks sloping 1½ to one foot. It is intended to have a reserve of ten feet of water in this reservoir, which amounts to 701,250 gallons. It is so constructed that the inflow from the artesian well, the flow to the pumps and waste or overflow, will keep the entire body of water in circulation. Before the water in the reservoir can pass to the pumps and into the mains and stand pipe it passes through a system of sieves, taking out all substances which may have found way into the reservoir, so the water will be as pure and clean as the water direct from the well. All overflow water passes from the reservoir through waste pipe direct to the river, and all water from the well not used by the pumps flows direct into the reservoir. This with the stand pipe on Bunker Hill will give a reserve supply of water of over one million gallons, which added to the flow of the well would appear to be ample for some time to come. The waste earth not required for the reservoir embankment will be used to grade the lot upon which the pumping house stands, on the opposite side of the street.

A gate-house is to be built on the River street front of the reservoir, in which the gates or shut offs will be located, at which point the engineer in charge of the pumping engines can instantly regulate the flow of water from or to the reservoir. The screens for purifying the water are also to be located in this building. Everything connected with the station and pumping house are planned for a first class plant, and there is no question as to the outcome.

Mr. Williams has heard from the special castings and fire hydrants, and expects their arrival this evening.

The plans for the pumping house are not yet completed. The work of quarrying stone for the foundation of the stand-pipe was commenced at the "Stout" quarry this morning.

GOLD AT ISHPEMING.

Mr. E. D. Nelson is exhibiting some choice specimens of gold-bearing quartz taken from the newly discovered Lake Superior mine in the vicinity of Ishpeming, Michigan. The specimens are rich. From an assay recently made twelve ounces were pulverized, and an average taken out for assay, and the gold pounded out of the balance. The assay gave 2,446.99 troy bullion per ton of ore. The bullion is 863 fine, gold, 137 fine, silver. This gives 2,112.35 oz. gold per ton, silver 334.64.

Value of gold at $20.67 per oz.	$43,662 27
Value of silver at	317 90
Total value per ton ore	$43,980 17

This rich discovery of precious metal is causing considerable excitement at Ishpeming, and will tend to lend additional impetus to the boom in the iron and copper mines.

Ishpeming, Mich., July 17.—The miners working on the Foley option, 160 feet east of the Lake Superior Iron company's gold mine, to-day fired four blasts in a vein and got rock of the same character as the Lake Superior mine and some particles of free gold was found in the rock. This establishes the permanence of the vein beyond a doubt. Much work is being done in the gold field and a number of capitalists from the east and west are here endeavoring to secure land. How much gold the Lake Superior company took from their shaft is unkown, but there was several thousand dollars. Rumor says $75,000 in gold has already been taken out, but the estimate is probably too high.

SANITARY REGULATIONS.

General Health Ordinances of the Future—Now Practicable.

I.

A purified and perfected public water supply for every city and incorporated village.

II.

Strict prohibition and preventation of the pollution of water courses (surface or underground) by sewage, privies, cesspools, drains, styes, stables, offal, carrion, of other refuse.

III.

Effective sanitation of sewage enforced, without discharge of its impurities into sub-soil, atmosphere or streams.

IV.

Enforced defecation by dried soil of all organic excrement and refuse.

V.

Enforced envelopment of all buried corpses (future) in from 30 to 60 cubic feet of dried soil, according to size

VI.

Enforced ventilation of all public buildings and convyances, school-houses, churches, theatres, halls, etc.; exhausting at all times, without droughts, at least 15 (?) cubic feet of air per minute for every person and for every gas or oil light therein; the said measure of exhaust air to be ascertained and shown by the anemometer at the outlet registers.

VII.

Every undrained piece of wet or marshy ground within the limits of a city or incorporated village, to be held a public nuisance, and to be abated by legal proceedings against the owner, the property or the municipality, on complaint of any citizen.

Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic is not a stimulant but a nerve food, restoring nerve force lost by sickness or excessive mental work or the use of liquor, opium morphine or tobacco. It supplies food for nerve tissues and by its gentle operative action, removes all restraint from the secretive organs, hence curing all diseases of stomach and liver. Prentice & Evenson, O. P., will supply the genuine Red Clover Tonic at 50 cents a bottle.

THE DYNAMITE FIEND.

He Tries to Blow Up the New Milwaukee & St. Paul Extension,

But Is Discovered, and a Terrible Accident Avoided.

IT SEEMS LIKE ANARCHY.

Track-laying is progressing favorably on this branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. The track is now laid some distance beyond Montecelo. Four more days of fair weather will suffice to reach New Glerus. A large force of workmen are engaged in surfacing and fence-building. The hotel and boarding train pulled out to-day for Montecello. The track-layers on the line were treated to a big surprise on Friday, in the shape of a dynamite mine, which was discovered in the grade at the crossing of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. Eight boxes, containing 480 pounds of dynamite, were taken from their hiding places and conveyed to a place of safety. Wires connecting the mine, led to a battery placed in the woods near by. Various surmises have been indulged in relative to the diabolical plot, which must have been aimed at the lives of innocent workmen in the employ of the C. M. & St. P. railroad. Some, however aver that it was intended to blow up the track and scoop out the grade at the crossing, as a means of bringing on a settlement between the road and companies.

A short time ago, the C. M. & N. R. hurriedly completed a hundred feet or more of grades at the junction of the two roads and laid down a few lengths of steel rail. This was done, it is supposed, for the purpose of heading off the C. M. & St. Paul, and force that company to pay a big bonus for the privilege of crossing besides maintaining the same. The C. M. & St. Paul company were in possession of the right of way, and proofs duly recorded before the C. M. & N. R. had any rights in the premises. Their rights, afterwards obtained, came about through a process of condemnation without appraisement, so we are informed. The sincerity and legal rights of the C. M. & N. R. are therefore honestly questioned. A telegram was received early on Saturday, ordering the removal of the obstruction, and the workmen proceeded without further interference.

The air for a time was fairly blue, and the make-up of a free fight was plainly visible in the outlines of indignation, which wreathed the faces of the workmen. The merited censure and rebuke of the dusky plotters against their lives may well be forgiven them in the faces of the treacherous dead fall, which had been placed in their hands. We may condemn the anarchists and bomb-throwers, of Chicago, but where shall the line be drawn between the scum of the old world and aristocracy of the new, when they use the same modes of warfare?

INSTEAD OF HUGGING.

The Girdles That are Worn by Girls of To-day.

The new girdle is just such an arrangement as the Grecian maidens used to wear B. C. to keep their Mother Hubbards from soaring over their heads and leaving them in the highly ridiculous and embarrassing position of a reversed umbrella. A New York writer says that it is made of silver links or plates, and is worn outside of everything, for the simple reason that it would be a very uncomfortable thing to wear inside and would seriously interfere with the fit of a dress. Again, more people see it on the outside and that is what it is worn for. As an article of clothing the girdle is not a practical success. It affords very little protection in a rain-storm or a blizzard, and is calculated to breed corns on the hip.

But with all its drawbacks the girdle has many advantages. When a girl is drowning a girdle is a much surer thing to lift her out with than hair. Hair is liable to come off. In walking through a crowd the escort could take a hitch of the chain around his wrist and be dead sure of his prey. Then they are convenient things to attach dogs to, and in case of defense can be used as a slung shot. When traveling and living in strange hotels a girl will find the girdle an infinite source of protection by using it to attach the door-knob to the bed-post.

When the wearer disrobes she hangs the shackles over a chair back, as she does her stockings. They won't stand up in the corner because they are weak-kneed. The girls have got the girdle very badly. It is liable to injure the matrimonial market some.

But, after all, a girdled girl is the delicacy of the season.

The Correct Time.

There are very few men who do not pride themselves on always having the correct time; and wonderful and delicate mechanisms are devised to enable them to do so. But the more delicate a chronometer is made, the more subject it becomes to derangement, and unless it be kept always perfectly clean, it soon loses its usefulness. What wonder, then that the human machine—so much more delicate and intricate than any work of man—should require to be kept thoroughly cleansed. The liver is the main-spring of this complex structure, and on the impurities left in the blood by a disordered liver, depend most of the ills that flesh is heir to. Even consumption (which is lung-scrofula) is traceable to the imperfect action of this organ. Kidney diseases, skin diseases, sick headache, heart disease, dropsy, and a long catalogue of grave maladies have their origin in a torpid or sluggish liver. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, by establishing a healthy, normal action of the liver, acts as a cure and preventive of these diseases.

An Oatmeal "Trust" Contemplated.

TORONTO, Ont., July 18.—The Ontario Oatmeal Millers' association has been in session here since Thursday. It has been decided by the members to organize a company with a capital of $30,000, composed of the oatmeal millers in Canada for the purpose of controlling the trade and fixing prices. This company will act in conjunction with American associations, and an agent will be sent to Europe to attend and control all shipments.

No Receiver for the Vandalia.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 18.—The motion for a receiver for the Vandalia property has been overruled in the United States Circuit court, Judges Gresham and Allen sitting together. The contest goes on meanwhile between the companies for setting aside the lease.

PLENTY OF WIND.

This, Notwithstanding a Lack of Results, Keeps the School Board Lively.

Furnaces Discussed While the Thermometer Shows 105 Above.

NO DECISION MADE.

Three very hot and uncomfortable hours were spent by the school commissioners Saturday night discussing places for the second ward building.

Immediately after the board was called to order, John Mills of the firm of Mills Bros, was listened to in relation to heating by steam. He agreed to heat and ventilate the new building thoroughly, using indirect radiation, for $1500.

Fifteen hundred dollars was considerably more than the ward had expected to pay. A complete system of furnaces with dry-air closets to take the place of privies could be put in for one thousand dollars, and this seemed to meet with the approval of everyone except Commissioner Wilson. His objection was to the dry-air closets, claiming that such devices, put inside of a school building, were unsafe in every way.

A rambling discussion followed, the question appearing to be which commisioner could stand it the longest. President Sutherland gave in first. He called Commissioner Kneff to the chair and escaped. Next came Commissioner Holloway, who made some remark about "too much gasbug-tem," and started for the east side. All the rest of the commissioners stayed but they might as well have gone, so far as doing anything of importance was concerned. They decided to find what it would cost to duplicate the central school building on the second ward grounds, ordered two sets of plans for the proposed building, one set showing the building heated by steam and the other showing it heated by hot air, and then turned off the gas and went home.

AT THE FRONT.

Railroad Building Extraordinary—The Little Muddy.

Ten miles west of the White Earth river, and ninety miles west of Minot, Dakota, begins a beautiful prairie tableland which covers the greater part of Flannery county, and reaches the point where the Little Muddy river joins the Missouri. The land is not hilly or broken, but the country has long, smooth drainage lines reaching back from the streams to where they culminate in a rounded divide, covered to the very top with a dense carpet of grass—the former grazing grounds of the now nearly extinct Buffalo. The new line of the Manitoba railroad passes through this fine body of land on its way to the Missouri, which it reaches by following down the valley of Stony Creek, a rapid spring of pure spring water. It is here that the first grading outfits on the Manitoba extension of the St. P., M. & W. Ry., are met; that army of 6,000 men and 3,000 teams, sufficient in number to simultaneously work on 125 miles of road, and yet every day sees more outfits added to the toiling mass so rapidly and resistlessly working its way toward the setting sun. This great army is not wholly composed of men; in fact, a large proportion are families which have brought all their possessions along, and after making a "stake" during the period while the road is being constructed, will select homes at some of the inviting places along the line of road. At the mouth of the Little Muddy the railroad grade first strikes the Missouri, and the rush of settlement is already directed toward that point, which is sure to be an important one. Nine places of business are already open and prospectors not willing to wait for the rails, are coming in by teams from the end of the track, which will reach the town by the fifth of June. The valley of the Muddy is wide and fertile, and maintains its size until near the source of the river. Ranchmen are enthusiastic over its productive soil, and big yields of grass. It is estimated that there are at least 75,000 acres of heavy timber within a radius of ten miles of the Little Muddy, and altogether there is a certainty that as soon as the road is finished this must be one of the most important places on the line.

THE PRESIDENT'S PARTY.

A Quiet Sunday—Saturday Night's Accident.

FORESTPORT, N. Y., July 18.—The President and Mrs. Cleveland spent Sunday quietly resting at the parsonage, the rain and murky weather and the somewhat exciting experiences of the evening not being especially propitious for the outdoor arrangements. The party left for Cazenovia at 9 o'clock to-day, and will be joined at Utica by Secretary Fairchild and wife.

While Engineer Reilly had his hand on the whistle to blow for Stiles' Crossing, on the return trip from Clayton to Alder Creek late Saturday night, the connecting bar to the forward driver on the right hand side of the engine broke, and the huge piece of steel revolved through the air with terrible velocity. It struck the ties first, and hearing it, Reilly divining what had occurred, with one hand blew the danger signal and with the other set the air brakes. Then he was thrown violently to the opposite side of the cab on top of his fireman, and grabbing him around the body forced him on top of the tender. The bar meanwhile was doing fearful execution on one side of the cab, and with the ties and ground over which the engine was still rushing, the valves not having been closed. A huge gash was made in the boiler, and the steam escaped in volumes. As Reilly grasped his fireman and lifted him onto the tender he either jumped or fell from the gangway of the engine. The fireman, after collecting himself with an effort, noticing that though the brakes were on the train was still running, hastened back in the cab in the midst of the stifling steam and closed the throttle. The train soon came to a standstill. Reilly was found dead where he had fallen beside the tracks. The Presidential party bore the short delay necessitated patiently, Mrs. Cleveland earnestly and sincerely hoping that Reilly was not hurt. The train was delayed three-quarters of an hour.

Small Pox in a Court Room.

CHICAGO, July 18.—There was a sensation in the Desplaines Street Police Court Saturday when it was discovered that one of the complaining witnesses was in the first stages of small-pox. The night previous the man came to the station and complained to Lieut. Ripley that he had been robbed by Charles Buhlman, the keeper of a Canal street resort much frequented by sailors. While giving his testimony it was discovered by bystanders that the complaining witness was ill, and in reply to questions he stated that he was suffering with small-pox. There was at once great confusion in the court room, most of the spectators making haste to escape down the stairway. Health Commissioner De Wolf was at once notified, who ordered his removal to the pest-house. Buhlman is held in $500 to await the man's possible recovery that he may further testify.

THE COUNTRY'S CROPS.

CONDITION OF GRAIN IN THE WEST.

Affected by the Hot Weather and Lack of Rain—The General Bulletin.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 17.—The Illinois State Weather Service reports the temperature of the last week as above the normal for the corresponding period of the last ten years. Local showers during the last week have improved the appearance of crops in certain sections, but the majority of the observers report a great lack of seasonable rainfall. The rainfall reported was purely local, consequently there are many localities that have had no moisture since July 3, the date of the last general rainfall throughout the State. Corn has improved somewhat in appearance in the sections visited by showers, but unless there is more rain soon the crop will be seriously damaged. In the section from Livingston to Kendall county the condition of corn is reported as promising only from 50 to 75 per cent. of an average yield. In the other counties of the northern grand division corn is in more promising condition, but needs more rain. In the central and southern grand divisions the condition is between 90 and 95 per cent. of an average. The oats crop is nearly all harvested, and the yield will be light in the northern, fair in the central, and slightly above the average in the southern. Pasture lands are in very poor condition in the northern, and but little better in the central, and below an average in the southern division.

The General Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The signal service weather crop bulletin for the last week says there has been an excess of temperature and more than the usual amount of sunshine in the corn regions, and under these conditions, combined with the deficiency of rainfall for the week, have probably resulted in some injury to this crop. Local showers have fallen in sections of the corn belt, but not over the entire area, and the rainfall was not in sufficient quantity. The weather has been favorable for the harvesting of wheat, which has been generally completed except in Minnesota and Dakota, where it is now in progress, and where all growing crops were improved.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

Special Treatment by the Laying on of Hands.

Minipulation, Massage, French Copping, Electricity, or Galvanism.

Prof. M. Bergeon's

New Method of Wasting Diseases or

Consumption Cure

By GASEOUS ENEMATA, which is a boon to sufferers from this fatal malady unknown in medical practice. STOP, OH, STOP! ruining your system by continually dosing with poisonous drugs and be treated by modern science without medicines, for the cure of

Rheumatism	Liver Complaint,
Neuralgia,	Kidney Diseases,
Dyspepsia,	Female Complaints,
Constipation,	Nervousness,
Sciatica,	Spinal Disease
Lumbago,	Deafness,
Aches & Pains,	And all Kindred Diseases
Nervous Debility	Especially Chronic Conditions.

Dr. Miner has an experience in medical practice of over a quarter of a century, is just beginning his second year in Janesville. Who ever heard of such marvelous cures as he has done here without medicine. Call at his office for references. He publishes no names. Sprained or dislocated joints, paralysis, TIRED BACK, PAINFUL BACK, LAME BACK relieved in one or two treatments. Catarrh, throat and lung diseases. Female diseases of whatever character are as surely cured by his modern treatment as that the parties follow his instructions. He has not failed in only one instance to cure and this party withdrew after four or five treatments. Over 2,000 cases treated in this state since 1871; names and addresses in his office. Dr Miner never prescribes for a case unless he is sure of success. Many are turned away for this reason only. Consultation free. Office hours 9 to 12 m; 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 p. m. Calls made outside of office hours at regular prices.
